

Michael Fakesch

Inhaber Designingsounds, Music Producer, Rosenheim

43-year old Michael Fakesch is a German music producer, sound designer, DJ, lecturer and film music composer.

In the late nineties, Michael Fakesch and his band Funkstörung gain worldwide attention for their remix works for Björk, Wu-Tang Clan or Jean-Michel Jarre. Several albums and worldwide tours follow until the end of Funkstörung in 2005.

Around that time Michael starts doing sound designs for TV and internet ads (eg Toyota, BMW, Nike, Lexus) which gets him many awards (like a Cannes Golden Lion in 2009). In 2011 Michael does the music for MTV's EMA's, which leads to numerous follow-up jobs for the TV branch (incl. eyes&ears awards for Pro7 Maxx and SIXX). In 2014 famous director Nicolas Winding Refn ('Drive') asks Michael to do music for his TV ad for Samsung. End of 2014 Michael composes the scores for the independent movies 'Heist' and 'Game Over'. 2015, 2016 and 2017 are his busiest years so far doing jobs for BMW, Huawei, HTC, Mitsubishi, Nike, Pepsi, Philip Morris, Red Bull, Tata, Virgin, Vitra and many more.

Since 2008 Michael has a steady engagement as lecturer at Kunstuniversität Linz (Austria) teaching about sound design and music for motion pictures.